BIO

Thomas Lund-Sørensen is the director of the Centre for Cyber Security at the Danish Defence Intelligence Service. Prior to joining the Intelligence Service he had a long and distinguished career within the Foreign Service serving most recently in different positions as CIO, as Special Representative to Libya during the uprising in 2011 and as Ambassador to the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. He is a Marshall Memorial Fellow and a graduate of École Nationale d'Administration in Paris, France.