II.1.4) Short description of the contract or purchase(s):

ENISA requires 2 studies to be conducted related to the overall topic 'Incentives and responsibility requirements for multi-stakeholder NIS cooperation in ICT supplier and user communities' specifically in the media and finance sectors. The aim of the 2 studies is to investigate how the NIS requirements of business users of network-based services may or may not affect cooperation between network operators, software and service security providers, both in the development and delivery of NIS services. In addition, the studies will identify relevant actors and groups of stakeholders, and assess their roles and responsibilities. In contributing to a better understanding of the economic impact of network and information security, the studies are expected to offer explanatory and, where possible, causal linkages.
